About the Author

Robynne Merrill is an internationally recognized author of speech therapy materials and is the creator of the You Can Teach Speech Now materials. She began her publishing career over 30 years ago and her manuals were the first speech therapy publications in the country to combine language skills with articulation therapy.

FREE Downloads EVERY Monday

Be sure to visit www.teachspeechnow.com every Monday morning for a fun, new, and FREE speech therapy exercise for you to download. Also included on the Free Downloads page are "try before you buy" exercises from all of our products. A great resource to build up a library of materials.

Why You'll LOVE Our Products

The You Can Teach Speech Now materials:

- Combine articulation and language.
- Include lots of speaking opportunities per page.
- Provide extremely targeted therapy to make the best use of therapy session time.
- Are filled with charming full-color illustrations.
- Are provided in PDF format which makes them available for immediate download and use. No need to wait for materials to be mailed to you.
- Can be conveniently used on your laptop or tablet, or as handouts. Print out just the pages you need for your therapy sessions or homework.
- Require little to no preparation on your part. Just show up to the therapy session with one or two exercises from the workbooks and you have a complete lesson plan.
- Are great for homework. The clear directions on every page make it easy for a parent or caregiver to practice with the student at home.
- Work! The exercises in each of our products are based on the author's 35-year career as a school speech therapist and author of articulation and language manuals.
